Garland a Successor

General Drum to the Militia

WASHINGTON November 16—In his annual report of the operations of his office during the past year Adjutant General Drum devotes some space to recommendations touching the improvement of the militia Referring to reports of inspections of corps made during yesterday he says While just but rather pointed cut many defects, there are many that cannot be remedied by men except the military zeal and pride that exists in the state militia. The reports give unmistakable evidence of a slowly maturing temper and character adapted to still more closely unite the regular army and militia in the common parts of the defensive power of the government The adjutant general then makes the following recommendation State encampments to be of absolute benefit should be of ten days duration, and while established at convenient points looking to economy in concentration of troops should be at a sufficient distance from the homes of the members of the command in order to overcome business and social influences which seriously affect effort at imparting instruction and holding men in hand for drills target practice guard duty, etc The camp should be divested of every appearance of a holiday character The programme of military exercises should be limited to brigade drills and the time of the encampment devoted to instruction and practice in skirmish and battalion drills and guard duty As long as fighting in the future must be done in open order, the rough action of the skirmish drill is of the highest importance Officers should be required to perform the duties of guards and sentinels and strict attention in guard duty be exacted to the minutiae So far as fatigue uniform or dress for field service is concerned it would be of advantage for the authorities of each state to prescribe a simple plain but serviceable fatigue uniform for all troops, to which the companies might gradually conform within a limited time, say one year This is not intended to interfere with the right of each command to wear such full dress uniform as it may have selected for wear on review, parades and other occasions of ceremony Go olete sets and amunition for the troops of state troops should be replaced by improved guns of the same pattern as to the arms of the regular army and liberal appropriations made for field Practical drills with live firing is showing to what a degree of mechanical precision a body of men can be trained to attain in movements and motions are an undesirable feature of military camps In many instances details, the result of extreme exactness of drill have resulted in neglect of some of the most important and soldierly parts of the soldier's training

A Canadian Proposition

CHICAGO November 16—A News special from Halifax says Maritime provinces are up in arms against the dominion government at the proposal to make Portland the terminal port of the ocean mail service Public meetings were held at St Johns, N B and Frederick ton last night to protest

A Bond Question

WASHINGTON, November 16 The first comptroller of the treasury rendered a decision to day which will be of interest to holders of government bonds There has just been presented for redemption a 5 0 per cent bond issued under the act of March 10, 1864 which provides that bonds of that issue shall be payable forty years after date with an option to the government of redemption at any time after the expiration of two years. The bond in question was embraced in a call made in 18 9 and has just been presented with all coupons detached The comptroller decides that as the value of the unmatured detached coupons is greater than the face value of the bond itself the bond cannot be redeemed until such coupons shall have been presented

OVER A CLIFF.

The Aspen Stage Containing Nine Passengers

Tumbles Over a Cliff Four Hundred Feet High

A Woman Killed and Several Painfully Injured

A Stage Accident

DENVER, November 16 A News special from Aspen says This afternoon at four o'clock one of those painful startling and distressing accidents which will occur in travelling by stage over the defiles of the mountains occurred The Leadville and Granite stages left the dinner station for Aspen somewhat late The first coach, driven by Elmer Squires, one of the oldest and most careful of Carson's stage drivers, was on wheels, the rear one on runners The freshly-fallen snow was not packed, and the track was not frozen All proceeded without event until the descent of Independence pass was being made The descent is very steep and there are two turns in the road, which are very sharp and the mountain is very steep and several freighting outfits have been hurled over The first turn on the road which is about four hundred feet above the road below is the most dangerous spot It was at this place that an accident happened to the coach on wheels The driver had the coach as near the embankment as possible but it was unable with all his ability to prevent it from slewing despite the rough locks and the hind wheels went over taking with them the covered box and the nine passengers over the cliff 400 feet

The passengers were as follows Lillie Murphy of Leadville, variety actress, Duncan C Comans, Aspen miner, Duncan C Robertson Leadville, railroad contractor F A Bardwell, Fort Dodge Iowa, railroad surveyor Andrew Dix Leadville, J D Hanlegan Joseph Helton, A J Swift, Robert Dwyer Down they went the steep mountain side, for four hundred feet to nearly the road below in one conglomerate mass One or two were thrown out and were hurled into the deep snow The injured crushed in a mass the screaming Miss Murphy was hurled into the snow and badly injured It required the exertions of the uninjured passengers half an hour to extricate her, and when they did she was supposed to be dead but restoratives were applied and she partially recovered On a blanket she was carried to the toll house at the foot of the range and left

The others injured were D C Comans, injured in the chest and badly scratched, D T Robertson two serious scalp wounds, F A Bardwell, badly injured about the hips and legs, Robert Dwyer, serious cut on head and legs and injured internally, Christ Conne, leg broken All were left at the toll house

At seven o'clock, soon after the arrival of the uninjured coach and passengers, physicians were dispatched to the scene, which is about twenty miles distant The driver of the coach when he saw the vehicle was bound to go jumped to the road and succeeded in keeping the horses and forward wheels in the road

The story of those in the sleigh is heart-rending As soon as the unfortunates realized the fact that they were going, their shouts and cries rent the air, but no power could save them from what was looked upon as a dreadful death The life of Lillie Murphy was reported despaired of when the uninjured passengers left the toll house

G P Hancock, an old citizen of Aspen, died on Independence range while on the coach He has been for years afflicted with asthma and was going to Los Angeles, Cala, for relief

Blaine and Civil Service Reform

AUGUSTA Maine November 16—The following letter will be published here to-morrow

AUGUSTA Maine, November 16

To the Editor of the Kennebec Journal

I thank you for calling my attention to the resolutions adopted by the so-called independent conference during the recent canvass in Massachusetts It is my position on the question of civil service reform Absence from the state for two weeks has prevented my seeing the circular to which you refer I send you herewith a copy of what I spoke in Boston the last of October at Huntington Hall Whatever of misrepresentation or doubtful sense for my utterances My speeches in Tennessee were accurately reported for the Philadelphia Press by a skilled stenographer and I personally saw this report in the paper I send you herewith the speech of October 1 was first published in the Press and I hope fully and fairly to republish it in your columns along with the circular and by the resolutions of the independent conference

I have kept a copy of my letter of October 8 from Mr Martin Brimmer of Boston which I have received reply from Mr Brimmer in confidentially based first on his opinion of the circular of the civil service committee, and I have his belief into public look a statement which would be unjustice If my supposition be correct Mr Brimmer will have gentlemen will draw his lance It is scarcely necessary to say that I have never repudiated reform in the civil service or about my interest therein nor have I ever regarded the writers as a forcible mode of argument Were I tempted to resort to it I should direct it against the form of the civil service not first the hypocrisy of those who wish the civil service law to be enforced against their political opponents but not against their political friends

The point which I so sharply criticised in my speech at Huntington was entirely confused and obscured in the newspaper circular I stated that the English civil service which was held up as a model for our own government by those who hate the republican party two years ago is now under investigation and apparent condemnation by the English themselves that the British ministry have instituted a search into to examine into the alleged abuses, and that Mr George W Smalley, apparently agreeing hitherto with the American admirers of the English service now declares the belief in England to be that the civil service is worse than all the departments of the government than it was 40 years ago Mr Smalley gives some detailed recital of the defects and abuses alleged to exist in the English service defects and abuses which were never attributed to our own civil service, even by its most merciless censor My argument implied and was intended to imply that the republican party had been wise in not adopting the English system with its life tenure and its large pensions and all the attendant evils which have at last demanded investigation by a ministerial commission nor would justice and fair courtesy have been done to my speech even if my remarks on the civil service torn from their logical connection had been correctly quoted by the independent committee Those remarks were but part of an argument in which I endeavored to illustrate how truly American in its best sense were the whole policy and history of the republican party and how under the lead of the so-called independents the democratic party, both in its revenue system and its civil service rules, was to be conformed to British policies just at a time when the British themselves are finding a fatal weakness in those policies In short, though I did not say so in words I meant to convey my belief that the very worst leaders and guides for continental republicans are those who persist in holding up the perfection of human government in the British monarchy whose conditions are in all respects radically different from those of our own land Massachusetts independents should learn that American inspiration ends where imitation of England begins Very respectfully

Veterinary Convention

CHICAGO November 16 The report of the committee at the veterinary convention recommending appointing a committee to investigate the contagious disease of this city was received and discussed The report was the result of a resolution introduced in the distillery stables and where in Colorado and well it is contagious pleuro pneumonia A committee consisting of Dr F Atchley Dr E Thorp Dr James D Hopkins Dr J W Gadsen and Dr P Fox was recommended that all diseased cattle be slaughtered Free discussion by members declared the practice of inoculation to be dangerous and objectionable and recommended that it be prohibited by law

Dr Hopkins offered the following which was referred to the committee on resolutions

WHEREAS Contagious pleuro pneumonia in cattle exists in certain districts of the United States and

WHEREAS Inoculation has been advocated by some as a means of stamping out the disease and

WHEREAS Experience in Colorado has shown that this method is practised in localities where pleuro pneumonia is prevalent and that inoculated cattle and direct contact to other animals with which they afterwards cohabit and whereas the veterinary profession of Europe condemns inoculation except in localities that are thoroughly infected and where no effort is being made to extirpate the plague, therefore be it

Resolved By the convention of veterinarians and state sanitary boards that, considering the limited territory infected in this country, every effort should be directed to the thorough eradication of this disease from America, and be it further

Resolved, That we consider inoculation to be an extremely dangerous and objectionable practice in the present condition of affairs in this country and one which should be discouraged by the veterinary profession and prohibited by law as long as there is a possibility of stamping out the disease

An effort was made to suppress this resolution and it will meet with much opposition when brought to passage.

The Lighting of Liberty

WASHINGTON, November 16 The question of lighting the Bartholdi statue of Liberty was officially brought to the attention of the president to day for the first time, by the secretary of the treasury The president and secretary examined the law bearing on the case, and as a result the president directed that the matter be placed in the hands of the lighthouse board with a view to determining the utility of the statue as a beacon Mr Gulf president of the American system of electric lighting, subsequently waited on the secretary of the lighthouse board and made a proposition to light the statue free of expense to the government. He was told to put his offer in writing and it would be considered A member of the board in speaking on the subject this afternoon said the main question to be determined was whether the electric light was an aid or detriment to navigation There were many persons who held the latter view, and it is a fact he said that the electric light at Hell Gate was to be discontinued after the 1st prox because it was regarded as dangerous to navigation

A Mysterious Case

CHICAGO November 16 Benj Whellor the man who was arrested on suspicion of having had something to do with the murder of his wife last Friday night, was released to day on $20 000 bail Patrick Grace who was charged with the crime by Whellor is still held in default of $100 0 bail A preliminary hearing of the prisoners was begun in the police court but was not completed The case will be taken up to-morrow Dr Jones testified that he was called by Mrs Whellor and found her dead Mrs Whellor testified that Grace had called the night before and had quarrelled with her husband and had spoken of his wife quarrelling that she struck him and he struck her to kill Police are working up this theory however They deny that the wound on Whellor's head could have been inflicted by the woman The case is still shrouded in mystery

Petitions continue to be circulated among business men of New York asking the president to exercise clemency on behalf of John D. Fish, ex president of the Marine bank, on the ground that his health is failing rapidly Sing Sing is not a health resort, and it is a common complaint of the inmates that the place does not agree with them

Congressman Wise of Virginia has been put under bonds to keep the peace In an interview at Washington a few days ago he declared his intention of annihilating Colonel Lamb, the editor of a Norfolk newspaper who had been abusing him during the recent political campaign. But he seems to think the pen is mightier than the sword, for he attacks the editor by means of a newspaper card so threatening that the authorities intervened to save the object of his hatred

The weather which now appears to be subsiding has been of the blizzard order, and covered a great portion of the western country, extending as far east as Minnesota and to the extreme northwest. The snow accompaniment has been so light that cattle and sheep will experience no bad effects Health seekers will notice the fact that this city has been specially favored as usual Though the weather has been disagreeable enough, none of the localities reporting have been as warm, except Pueblo, while many have experienced extreme cold and much more snow

A telegraphic dispatch from Scranton Pa., says that it has been publicly announced there that the president had tendered the attorney generalship to Charles L. Buckalew The story is a credible one. Such an appointment would add to the strength of the cabinet, and the change would be generally approved Mr Buckalew has a high reputation as a lawyer and man of affairs, and has universal respect regardless of party. He is now 65 years old, has served many terms in the senate of Pennsylvania, was appointed resident minister to Ecuador in 1858, and was United States senator from 1863 to 1869, succeeding David Wilmot After the expiration of his term in the United States senate he was not above serving his state in an humbler capacity, and returned to the Pennsylvania senate, where he initiated the movement for a constitutional convention, of which he was a leading member.

The Canadian government will not add to its popularity by its proposal to make Portland, Maine, the terminal port of its ocean mail service There seems to be no question as to the superiority of that route for mails, as nearly a day may be gained in time but the change proposed would be a serious injury to the business interests of Halifax and St John from the consequent diversion of trade The convenience of the great majority of the people has little weight, hence the indignation and protests The present administration is in other difficulties with the prospect of speedy downfall The finances are in a deplorable condition and growing worse The deficit last year amounted to nearly six millions and a new loan will soon be necessary to meet current expenses The country appears to have finally tired of Sir John Macdonald who has added to the national debt nearly a hundred million dollars in the last eight years An appeal to the country it is reported will take place at once, and the people of Canada will speak for administrative economy.

In view of the results of certain congressional contests and the expression of public sentiment the action of congress at the session soon to begin will be awaited with much interest. The dilemma of the majority is commented on by the New York Tribune in the following manner In December, when congress assembles for the short session, Mr Morrison will come back defeated, and Mr Randall will come back victorious A shadow will rest over Mr. Carlisle, his seat being contested, and Messrs. Seymour and Mitchell of Connecticut, with many other democrats who supported the free trade tariff proposed by Mr. Morrison will come together sadly in the knowledge that the people have done with them On the other hand republican members have been strengthened mightily in their course by the reelection of almost all of them and by the knowledge that the democratic majority has been cut down from 40 in the present to 10 or less in the next house Under these circumstances the duty of reducing the revenue will be again considered Congress must either reduce the revenue or increase the appropriations at the coming session, unless it is prepared to cause such contraction of circulation next year as the majority will not dare to face The three per cent bonds will soon be all or nearly all retired, at the present rate, before much of the next fiscal year has elapsed [illegible] ing excess of revenue over appropriations will draw into the treasury about $9,000,000 a month of the money in circulation over and above the amount required for the business of the country. Members of congress will hardly dare to avoid this by largely increased appropriations The only other resource is to cut down revenue The democrats will not be more harmonious because of their late defeat They will be together well organized and ready for business with a supply of ability and good recommendations of the president and with an overwhelming quantity of grudges to satisfy While they are quarreling the republicans can easily distinguish themselves in considering what reduction of taxes they could accept If they had been intrusted with power they could safely abolish all duties on sugar and all taxes on tobacco and molasses, to about $50,000,000, let alone whether Louisiana planters would call it a fair Louisiana planter would object to the repeal of the duties on sugar at a time when they have just elected another unreconstructed democratic delegation by such means as the votes of a majority of the people of that state It is not encouraging for the people of other states to tax themselves any longer for the exclusive benefit of Louisiana planters who trample upon the laws of the United States in order to give political power to a free trade party Quite another hand the voters of Virginia and North Carolina, Kentucky and Tennessee have shown a growing attraction to the republican policy of protection It would be to their a very welcome think, to have the internal tax on tobacco abolished and the republicans if they were entrusted with the responsibility would make that change with safety An increase of the duty on tin plates on steel wire rods and logs is a restoration of the duties on wool would be natural pieces of a republican policy so that home industry should be encouraged as well by duties on foreign imports as by exemptions on essential of burdens What policy equally beneficial can the democratic majority offer?

Chicago News

Superintendent Judson of the Chicago and Iowa road tells of a section boss who several years ago sent in report which made a big word for the boys about the general office that is in use to-day Section bosses are provided with blanks, on which they are required to report all cases of animals killed by trains The blanks have spaces for telling where when and how the animal is killed and what disposition is made of the carcass, whether it is buried or sold

One day a cow was killed out on the Rochelle section and a section boss who had been recently promoted went out to make the report He told in the proper spaces what train killed the animal and under what conditions it was done Then he came to the line

Disposition

Well,' said he, scratching his head, I'll be danged if I'm sure about that, but being she was a cow I think I can guess at it' So he filled out the line, which, when it reached the general office, read

Sand Hill Crane Dance

Chicago Advance

The last time I went hunting, I witnessed a scene which I had often heard of but never seen It was the dance of the sandhill crane My companion was a well known hunter, and though he is a physician finds much time he lives in northern Iowa—to study the ways and haunts of wild fowl. Now," said he, 'I will show you within an hour the famous dance of the sand hill cranes' We swept over the prairie in a way which I shall never forget, the two ponies seeming to enjoy the outdoor sport At last we came in sight of a crowd whose noise had saluted our ears for an hour They were on a slope which came down near to a lake All at once two stepped out from the crowd faced each other and began clapping their wings jumping up and down as Indians do for a war dance All this time they were uttering cries which boys would understand very soon to be cries of exertion Their operations excited the wrath of the onlookers, laughter and the crowing, jeering and derision was unknown. The champion of the day Where these two became exhausted two others went through the same performance We waited there for about an hour

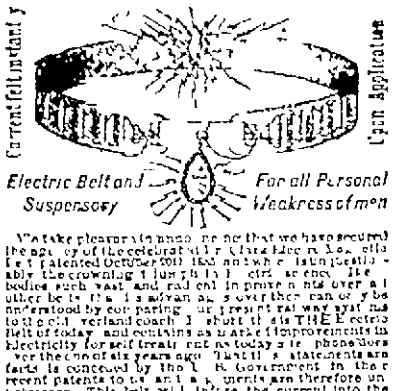
NATURE'S REMEDY.
DISEASE CURED WITHOUT MEDICINE



We take pleasure in announcing that we have secured the agency of the celebrated Electric Belt and Suspensory patented October 19th 1886 and which is universally the crowning triumph of electric science. The bodies such wear and radical improvements over all other belts that it is advantageous over them can only be understood by comparing our present retail price with that of old fashioned coarse belts. THE Electric Belt of today and contains as many improvements in electricity for self treatment as today's telephones over the one of six years ago. These statements are facts is conceded by the U. S. Government in their recent patents to us and improvements are therefore unnecessary. This belt will infuse the current into the spinal column, which is the great nerve centre of the body and also direct currents to the stomach liver sexual organs or any weakened or diseased part thus permeating every part of the body and will positively cure Nervous Debility Lost Manhood Rheumatism Kidney and Bladder Diseases, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia and Weakness of the Sexual Organs Piles General Ill Health &c Electric Suspensory for men free with every belt

We take it for granted that every buyer of an Electric Belt wants the BEST MADE and it is therefore to their interest to pay three to five times as much for a belt before buying as it costs no more than the inferior cheap styles produce stronger and more lasting currents and kindred metals We warrant it to last for years and while fair they can never cease to be. It is lighter and more convenient to wear than any other. TO MEN suffering from any personal weakness we specially recommend it and will be glad to give the highest private references as to what it has done in their case. Our Pamphlet No 1 illustrated and containing full information by mail enclosed in sealed envelope free.

HIGH HAT DID BUSINESS

Arrest of Holladay Arapahoe Officials in the Wrong

In last Saturday's issue of the Denver News there appeared an article headed "High Handed Business," which reflected upon Sheriff Dana, but when the facts in the case are known it will be seen that the Arapahoe county officials are placed in any but an enviable light. Last Thursday the case of the people against Strong et al came up for trial at the instance of the district attorney a subpoena was issued for George N. Holladay of Denver to appear as a witness in the case. Sheriff Dana went to Denver to serve the subpoena but Holladay when served, declined to come unless his mileage and one dollar per diem was paid in advance. Sheriff Dana then returned without Holladay and Judge Harrison issued a bench warrant Thursday evening for Holladay's arrest for contempt of court. When Sheriff Bonner of Arapahoe county was informed of the issuance of the warrant he decided to leave Holladay in Denver until—he should see the warrant. Sheriff Jackson then went to Denver Friday and seeing Under Sheriff Chivington ascertained that the latter knew of Holladay's whereabouts but would not arrest him in custody until he could see the warrant. Mr Jackson then Friday evening hunted up Sheriff Cramer to be found at his residence. He informed Mr Jackson that Deputy Sheriff Chivington would have Holladay in Colorado Springs on the early morning train. Mr Jackson then returned home and Mr Lyons the witness never showed their appearance until Saturday afternoon about two o'clock. Holladay was immediately placed under arrest and a fine imposed him by the court amounting together with the costs in the affair to some $10 which the young man could not pay. Being unable to produce the sum he was put in jail until his friends in Denver could raise the sum necessary. In the meantime the case had been tried and a verdict returned, so Holladay was not put upon the stand. No doubt of Holladay, as alleged in the article, is supposed to be responsible for him. The charge of the costs were exhorbitant it is simply said as only the costs of a trip to Denver were charged, and the deputy sheriff of Arapahoe county is very careful to charge his costs. Sheriff Jackson acted only according to the instructions of the court and it was to the simple discharge of the sheriff's duty that Holladay owes the so called indignity to which he was subjected. The high handed business? is to have taken place in Denver, and not Colorado Springs as the Times would have readers believe.

Meeting of the Union Literary Society

HUSTED, November 15, 1886.

EDITOR OF THE GAZETTE:

Saturday evening the members of the Union Literary society met at the Husted school house. A small but attentive audience was present to drink in the words of eloquence which the speakers were to utter. After the reading of the programme and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting the report of the committee on constitution and by laws was read and a few amendments added, and the same was adopted. A corps of officers were elected and after various motions, resolutions and business measures had been disposed of the programme for the evening was taken up and, considering the short time given for preparation, the performers rendered their parts admirably.

The first exercise was a recitation by Miss Ella McAlroy, entitled "The Ringing of the Bells." Miss Allie did this poem justice in her rendition of it. The various emotions which it engendered by her anxiety for her lover were nicely depicted by voice, tone and gesture. Misses Allie and Julia McAlroy sang "Under the Stars," after which Master Charles Mann entertained the audience by a humorous recitation, entitled "The Fate of Chicken Bone." Charles spoke with grace and for one so young did remarkably well. After the "Chicken Bone" was killed Mr V. Russ sang "Sweet Long Ago" and our hearts turned back to old times carried thither by the fine voice of the singer and the sweet words of the song. Miss Mann then recited "An Order for a Boy." Miss Estella showed by her rendition of this poem that she possesses good elocutionary ability which, by proper training, can be developed to a very great advantage.

A debate followed. Question: "Were the United States justifiable in seceding?" G. Nesser spoke for the affirmative and Mr McAlroy for the negative. It is useless to say that the question was thoroughly mastered. After the reading of the programme for next two meetings, the society adjourned to meet at Borst school house on December 20.

RESUM

THE MIDLAND'S MOGUL

Photo Description of the Heavy Iron Horses That are to Mount the Grades

Leadville Herald-Democrat of a recent date contains the following:

A new dress adorns the train with which the Colorado Midland is to make her debut at the opening of another spring is now in the hands of the artists and is engaging the attention of curious rivals throughout the country, and upon the authority of those who have inspected the design it is a handsome and artistic one. It is to be unique in many respects as it has yet been thought before the company to detail it is to compare with the engagement and progress made in railway construction from the car wheel to the locomotive stack. Digressing, the last work fully now remaining right for the Midland was that of Colorado Springs, and this is but the assignment of an invoice that equipment has yet been given through the entire length of the well country. Upon it there are the St. Charles and Missouri car works, the Terre Haute car works and the Barnum car works of Dayton, Ohio. All of these manufacturing establishments are running perpetually upon freight cars for the Pacific railways and several hundred locomotives for the Mexican Northern railroad. The capacity of these works will be taxed from twenty to twenty-five years and will constitute one of the troublesome features of the period the railroad equipment is having a capacity of freight offices.

The passenger equipment has been entrusted to the Pullman Palace Car Company, which is now engaged in the construction of a series of the most magnificent coaches that were ever designed to ride on rail. They are to be furnished with all of the latest improvements and a score of new details that have been provided in recent years for the comfort and accommodation of the traveling public. The cabins are upon the standard gauge to breadth and depth while each is to be abundantly provided with the latest safeguards against accident and disaster.

The freight engines are to be a marvel of power and capacity, and are what is known to railroad circles as the Mogul. They are now being put together by the Schenectady locomotive works and in order for twenty-five will have been completed the first of next year, and ready to undertake their more arduous tasks through to hills of Colorado. Without exception they are the best locomotives ever furnished a railroad in America and those who have seen or learned of the design are watching with irrepressible interest their appearance among the moguls of other roads that will compare with them as the mollusk to the mastodon. The magnificent proportions of the engine are an eloquent index to the great backbone of the Colorado Midland, and a phenomenon in the railway firmament. It is to be supported in its meanderings over the gradually eight ponderous drivers four upon each side in addition to the trucks, and upon these drivers the engine will weigh sixty tons, the weight of the tank not included. The tank itself will have a capacity of 3500 gallons of water and twelve tons of coal. The cylinders are 30x24 inches. The engines will be equipped with the Westinghouse air brake and American sierra driver brake tender with all the latest appliances known to the locomotive works of the country. This is what is more properly known to railroadists as the consolidated engine, and is capable of wonderful performances.

The passenger engine bears the same relation to its department as the freight engine does to the other. On the drivers it will weigh fifty five tons, and is the largest ever manufactured for passenger service in the United States. It will consist of six drivers with three to each side with 19x24 inch cylinders which invests it with a speeding capacity of sixty miles an hour. They will, in fact, be the most expensive engines in the country and capable of every demand or draft that may be made upon them by the country, with which exists a variety of obstacles they are to struggle and to overcome. In fact they are intended to do away with the multitude of annoyances and delays that the traveling public have had to endure for several years past. The average observer will be no opposition to the powerful drivers, and the inhabitant of the mountains will then have at his disposal the same facilities for reaching a point of destination as those who conduct their business across the fertile fields of the valley.

The Weather of September

Professor H. H. Loomis, director of the Colorado Meteorological association, in a bulletin of the association on the weather of September says: "The mean actual atmospheric pressure is lower than that of last month except at Dodge City, Kansas, but has not fallen so much as is necessary, at this season of the year, in order to preserve the reduced barometer unchanged, and the latter is accordingly (except at Pikes Peak) somewhat higher than in August. A noticeable depression occurred in the first week of September and others still more marked on the 15th and 23d-26th. The rise following each of the latter was very rapid and was attended with a corresponding fall of temperature succeeded in each case by a sudden rebound. The at Colorado Springs the thermometer on the morning of the 15th stood at 50°, and on the next day reached 84°. The minimum of the month was 8° and the maximum of the 84°.

The rainfall of the month appears to have been somewhat below normal, at least on the eastern slope. On the western side of the mountains the rainy season is stated to have continued beyond its usual length.

Congress of Beneficiary Societies

WASHINGTON, November 16.—Delegates representing 15 fraternal societies with a membership of 5,000,000 met at the Rigas house in this city today and organized a national congress of fraternal beneficiary societies. Permanent organization was effected by the election of the following officers: Leroy Armstrong of New York, president, W. H. Barnes of California, president of the Pacific coast press association, first vice president, J. H. Butler, Massachusetts second vice president, R. C. Hill, editor Buffalo Sunday Truth, recording secretary, O. M. Shedd, New York, corresponding secretary, and Isaac Nelson of Washington treasurer. A constitution was adopted of which the principal provision is that none but legitimate fraternal beneficiary societies working under the ritual and lodge system shall be eligible to membership in the national congress. The main object of the congress is to organize among the various beneficiary orders a system of mutual information, benefit and protection. It is said that a number of business and speculative companies are organized under titles which would lead many persons to believe them fraternal beneficial societies. Protection is desired against these companies.

Law and Equity

WASHINGTON, November 16.—Second Comptroller Maynard has decided to allow the claims of Allan M. McDonald and Frederick J. Hurdell, civilian members of the Proteus Arctic search expedition under Lieutenant Garlington, U. S. A., for reimbursements for clothing lost by the sinking in July 1884. This decision overrules the action of the third auditor, who disallowed the claims for want of jurisdiction on the ground that the claimants were not officers or enlisted men of the army. The second comptroller holds that the claimants are entitled to payment as the clothing was lost through no fault of theirs.

A Celebrated Case

BOSTON, November 16.—Closing arguments in the celebrated case of Lizzie Wilson against Wesleyan millionaire Phillips, Mr Jenkins made to day. Speaking for the defense Attorney Morse said there was not a scrap of written testimony to uphold plaintiff's style which is full of endearments and protestations. He had received nearly $30,000 from Mr Moen, and she only wanted what was due and still owed.

Coming to the question of Moen's death, Wilson had told the jury that Moen had told him that he had paid $1000 to the world to tell the truth, the court of chancery had performed by the same man. Moen would have told the truth if he had not been asked. The plaintiff had proved that Moen was a blackmailer, and his death was due to blackmail law which pays money to a blackmailer. He had proved that Moen had paid the first $1000 and he thought he was done with Wilson forever.

Counsel then explained Wilson's extortion methods and said that Moen was under the strange power of a blackmailer and finally when he had paid so much he paid more to keep from the public the fact that he had paid anything. Wilson's contradictory testimony was then reviewed to show that his statements were worthless especially in the matter of his admitting and the letters he alleged he had received from Moen.

Mrs Sebright Divorced

LONDON, November 16.—Judgment was pronounced to day in the action brought by Mrs Arthur Sebright to have her marriage with Sebright declared void on the ground that she was forced into it through fear. The marriage was declared annulled. The judge in order his decision commented upon the fact that the evidence given by plaintiff had not been denied by the defendant. No man, he continued, with a particle of self respect would have allowed such testimony to go uncontradicted. Plaintiff had been reduced to a condition of mind by the defendant where she was no longer able to resist the pressure of his importunities to marry him and although at last the ceremony had been gone through with she had not given the consent which the law required. Sebright was to day adjudged bankrupt.

The Markets

NEW YORK, November 16.—Governments dull and steady. The stock market presented a more solid appearance than for many weeks. The market opened somewhat irregular but generally stronger, the advance over last evening's final figures ranging from ⅛ to ¼. In the last hour the market became feverish and irregular and so closed.

The mining market showed strength and activity, Union 2.50, Caledonia 1.15, Silver King 6.50, Sierra Nevada 3.25, Hale and Norcross 3.25, Bodie 3.45, Plymouth 16.25.

Petroleum active and excited opened at 84¼ and in the first half hour sold down to 83 but rallied and before noon the decline was recovered. In the last hour a sharp reaction occurred, causing a decline of 1 per cent but before the close it again rallied and closed strong at 76⅞, the highest point of the day.

London Anarchists

LONDON, November 16.—A meeting of British anarchists has been called to assemble in Cleveland hall, London, on the 22d inst. to protest against the action of the Chicago court which tried and sentenced Spies and his colleagues. The circular calling the meeting denounces the jury that convicted the Chicago anarchists as a bribed and packed body, and condemns Judge Gary for refusing the prisoners a new trial. Hon Auberon Herbert, brother of the Earl of Carnovan, will probably preside.

Failure of an Old House

CLEVELAND, November 16.—Cobb, Sampliner & Co., one of the largest men's furnishing goods manufacturers in the city, and who have been in business here for the past twenty-five years, made assignment to-day for the benefit of creditors. Assets $175,000, liabilities $200,000. Inability to collect debts due them and importunities of creditors stand as the cause of the failure.

Wise Excited

RICHMOND, Va., November 16.—Geo. D. Wise was arrested this morning on a warrant charging him with being about to commit a breach of peace. The arrest is the result of a publication in to day's papers of a card by Wise denouncing in the strongest language Col. William Lamb, ex-mayor of Norfolk. Wise was put under a thousand dollars bond to keep the peace.

Russia's Candidate

LONDON, November 16.—Russia has designated Prince Nicholas of Mingrelia as her candidate for the throne of Bulgaria. The other powers have unanimously approved of him as successor to Prince Alexander and invited Russia to now propose a satisfactory conclusion to the conflict with the Bulgarian regency.

The Fire Record

RALEIGH, November 16.—Fire originated at Durham at 8 a.m. in a grocery store and burned a large part of the business portion of the town. Loss half a million.

BERNE, November 16.—The village of Hirnstein in the canton of Berne, Switzerland has been destroyed by fire. None of the inhabitants perished.

Cabinet Deliberations

WASHINGTON, November 16.—The president's message and annual reports of heads of departments were the principal topics under consideration at to-day's cabinet meeting. There was a full attendance and the session was somewhat longer than usual.

French Buddensicks

PARIS, November 16.—Ten workmen were instantly killed today and six others injured by the collapse of a building in process of erection in the noble department of Isere.

War of Tariffs Impending

BERLIN, November 16.—Since the rupture of the commercial treaty negotiations with Switzerland the government is preparing for a war of tariffs.

Two French Authors

Paris Correspondent of the London World.

Daudet has been ill and weak all the summer and unable to continue his novel on the French academy which he began last winter, and Zola will not be ready until April with his novel on the peasantry. Notice the curious fact that Daudet who cannot work except in copying nature, and who cannot refrain from putting even his closest friends and relations into his novels—Daudet, who even notes down the conversations of his own children, with a view to putting them into a book—is not considered to be the leader of the naturalist movement, or even to be a naturalist, while Zola is looked on as not only really as the great naturalist of the great by every great student of real life. Well it is an undoubted fact that Zola never wrote a single novel from direct observation, certainly he would from the probes of science or from letters and hearsay alone. For instance, when he conceived the idea of writing this novel on the gestation of a child, the exact plan of going, under the project of his wife, and living three months in a farmhouse with and among the peasants and so study human nature. But I have up this plan reflecting that it might be disagreeable and uncomfortable to live in a farmhouse, and so he is now studying at a distance peasantry from the dairyman and the gardener of the village of Medan where he lives.

Flirting Under the Footlights Glow

Boston Home Journal

I have heard of all sorts of flirtations, but the strangest of them, perhaps, is the usual snap a cultured theater. In essence of flirting has been by them so reduced from intellectual pursuit that it throws its arms and all their relations quite out in the cold. It is an especially delightful pastime since the theater is its absolute field of action. It takes a clever fellow to succeed, because he must play out the game with great tact and it takes a girl of keen appreciation as well as willingness to catch on. Having chosen your girl you will be lucky if she sits in the front row of the gallery or parquet circle. If you are in your usual wet seat in the center aisle. You make sure that her escort is her brother or a disinterested party who would tumble to it at once. Then when a sentence from the stage come that will carry a message from you to her you give her a ten for glance. If she ever girl and sees your pretty smile once and doesn't hesitate to send you the sweetest from her bright eyes as soon as the curtain and the actor will voice it for her. It is a great sport if you for it make a mistake. In the girl and is as intellectual as ever. I can could desire. It is the real cultured article.

WALL PAPER.

Our spring stock of Wall Paper for 1887 is now arriving, and as we offered our Special Sale for 30 days, we shall give our customers the benefit of these New Styles at the same prices, namely:

Hand-made Embossed Gold, 75c, formerly $1 00 to $1 25.
Gilts, 32½c and upwards, formerly 50 to 60c.
Mixes, 20c, formerly 40c.
Flats, 20c, formerly 25 to 30c.
White Ingrains, [illegible] 18 to 20c.
Brown Climks, 10c and upwards, formerly 12½ to 15c.

To those who have never bought Wall Paper from us before we would advise them to call and see for themselves, for having just returned from the Wall Paper Market in the East, would say that we have many of the latest and most elegant designs that have been manufactured, and as we employ none but first class help you can depend upon it that your work will not be cut and hacked up by little inferior jobbers unable to work for us. Yours, respectfully.
